Room Entry & Subject Extraction Training Course

Course Goals

Are the room entry and extraction techniques that you have learned in the law enforcement training course or police training school enough to protect you, your team, customers or members of the public?

Door Supervisors and Security Staff tend to work in enclosed environments. These locations can either be quiet, secluded places like Health Care Centres, or crowded environments such as licenced premises. The potential for injury to staff members, the public and the subject alike in these surroundings is a real risk.

Working within an enclosed area may not be an exact science. However, many extractions and relocations can be pre-planned if conducted by a well trained team of staff members.

Tactical Training Services Ltd can provide Tactical Room Entry and Subject Extraction Training to Door Supervisors, Security Staff and Health Care Workers.

The majority of Law Enforcement, Security or Police organisations spends or devotes very little time in training their employees in Room Entry and Subject Extraction Training. The Law Enforcement, Security or Police Officers safety then becomes jeopardised when they are provided with inappropriate or no training or skills to deal with the threat of violence or physical abuse when entering a room or environment that requires subjects to be extracted.

The Law Enforcement Officer Defensive Tactics Course is a step-by-step training course designed for the safety of the Law Enforcement Officer all around the world. It will allow them to easily learn appropriate techniques to safely gain control of combative and non-combative subjects.

This training offers instruction in Defensive Tactics with universal concepts and principles with the most practical approach that is truly effective in real life situations, when used correctly.

Why not make Defensive Tactics a part of your daily workout or company-training schedule.

Course Content:

Tactical Room Entry and Subject Extraction Training is a very intense training course that will prepare attendees for their working environments.

The course explores the basics of team working and gradually develops the clients into an Extraction Team. The second part of this high intensity training programme is force on force related and clients are immersed into scenario based training.
