

TACTICAL TRAINING SERVICES LTD Health and Safety Statement

Our Commitment to Health & Safety

As the Managing Director of Tactical Training Services Ltd Responsible for Health and Safety, I acknowledge that I have the overall responsibility for health, safety and welfare of all employees, sub contractors, associate staff, and that of our service users of Tactical Training Services Ltd, and others who may be affected by our activities.

Tactical Training Services Ltd recognises that good management of health, safety and welfare makes good business sense.

This Statement of health & safety supports other policies, arrangements and procedures introduced by Tactical Training Services Ltd and their associates.

We at Tactical Training Services Ltd commit to the effective implementation of this health, safety statement. This will be met by: -

- Continuously striving to improve and develop a good health and safety culture.
- Continuously developing, implementing and reviewing annually any health and safety plans or action plans in line with the organisational aims, objectives and legislative requirements were required;
- Accepting the responsibility that health, safety and welfare is an important management responsibility within our organisation;
- Providing appropriate support to all our Employees, Trainers & Instructors and associate sub contracted staff to continuously strive to improve and maintain a very high standard of health and safety management within their area(s) of responsibility;
- Accepting the responsibility and recognising that the prevention of any accidents, incidents or work related ill health requires good management and leadership within the organisation;
- Continuously striving to ensuring all our equipment, facilities, materials, accommodation, venues, vehicle transportation, and safe systems of work are safe and without undue risk to health & safety;
- Assisting all our employees, sub contractors, and associate staff, to meet their individual legal duty of care, by involving them and encouraging their co-operation, in the management of their own health and safety through appropriate information and training during the course of their duty;
- Consultation with our employees, sub contractors, and associate staff, on matters affecting their health, safety and welfare at work.

Our Commitment to Health & Safety continued

In return, Tactical Training Services Ltd expects all its employees, sub contractors, and associate staff, clients, visitors, and service users to: -

- Fully co-operate on all health, safety and welfare matters, and to
- Take care of their own health and safety, and that of others who may be affected by their actions at all times.

This Health & Safety Statement will be communicated to all employees, sub contractors, associate staff, clients, visitors, and service users via appropriate information, team talks and training induction sessions. Any Associate Trainers ~ Instructors or persons with responsibility are all accountable to myself, as Managing Director of Tactical Training Services Ltd responsible for health & safety.

Tactical Training Services Ltd will continue to review regularly or following a significant change or the identification of any failings, its health & safety policies.

Signed:

David Pattinson

Managing Director of Tactical Training Services Ltd Responsible for Health and Safety

Date: October 2009

Review Date: October 2010